Apprenticeships and Careers

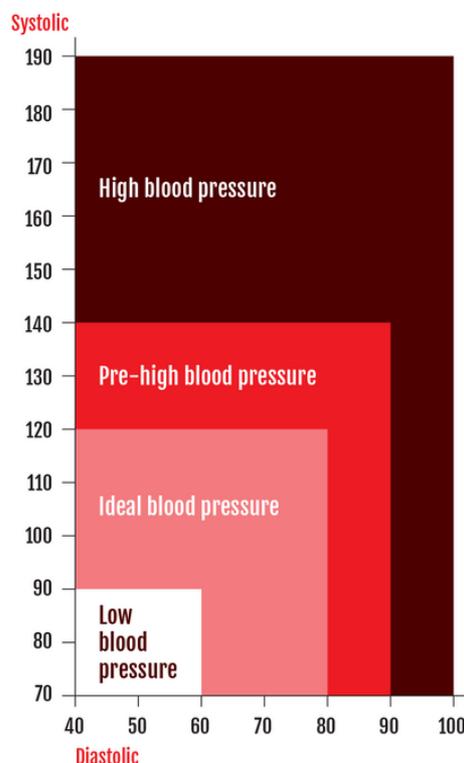

Myth or Reality?

"Apprenticeships are for people who want to do more 'manual' jobs"

This is a common misconception of apprenticeships. Yes, the apprenticeship sector has many offerings in construction, engineering and beyond but there are also apprenticeships in business admin, marketing, IT and more.

Did you know?

This month is #MayMeasureMonth! The International Society for Hypertension has established this to raise awareness of the dangers of high blood pressure and to encourage all to monitor their levels. Check out this chart to help you determine how high your blood pressure is.

MY LIFE, YOUR FUTURE?

Who am I?

Hello all, I'm Ellie! I work within the Apprenticeships & Careers Team as their Engagement Officer to support local schools, colleges and communities to promote Apprenticeships & Careers opportunities within our Trust, Gloucestershire Managed Services and NHS as a whole.

How did I get into this career/job?

I went to Severn Vale School as a student before choosing to do a Business Administration Apprenticeship with Gloucestershire College as my post 16 option after I left following my GCSEs. I choose to become a Business Administration Apprentice after finding enjoyment whilst attending some work experience within a local marketing/event company where I found an interest in marketing, working with people and supporting projects which enhance individuals and my local community. Whilst completing my apprenticeships I found a passion in promoting apprenticeships and wished to support sharing the message on benefits/impact of apprenticeships that could have on someone's career by sharing my own story. I have been fortunate to represent Gloucestershire and South West to promote apprenticeships as an Apprentice Ambassador with Department of Education so joined the NHS in 2022 within my role where I can develop myself and support/promote my passion within an employer which offer a variety of apprenticeships & career opportunities.

What's the best part of your job?

The best part of my job is working within the local community to promote Apprenticeships & Careers Opportunities within our Trust, Gloucestershire Managed Services and NHS as whole. I have no two days the same within my role as I get to speak and meet lots of individuals about their future career aspirations.

Why I love Apprenticeships?

"An Apprenticeship was the best choice I ever made! Becoming an Apprentice enabled me to take charge in choosing the best learning path for me where I could choose apprenticeship, employer, training provider and most of all you choose your own success and goals for your future. That's what I like about apprenticeships the most!"

APPRENTICESHIP OF THE WEEK BUSINESS ADMINISTRATOR

The Business Administrator Level 3 apprenticeship standard is designed to support those who want to enter a career in an administrative role within any given organisation. During the apprenticeship, participants gain a deep understanding of key administrative functions and develop a range of transferable skills that are highly sought after by employers. The program typically lasts for a period of 12 to 18 months, during which apprentices split their time between classroom-based learning as well as off-the-job and on-the-job training. Apprentices will consider modules such as business communication, administrative systems, IT and software skills, project management, customer service, financial administration and legal and regulatory compliance. Following completion of the apprenticeship candidates may consider a higher apprenticeship standard such as the Level 4 Project Manager or Level 4 Policy Officer. They may also choose to take up a permanent position in either business and administration or in other corporate roles such as team leadership, payroll, data entry, HR, IT or marketing.

CAREER OF THE WEEK PHARMACY

Careers in Pharmacies will largely entail the practice of pharmaceutical sciences, medication management and patient care. Practitioners may be involved in medication dispensing, medication counselling, therapy management and/or pharmaceutical research. A career in pharmacy offers opportunities to contribute to patient well-being, promote public health, and make a meaningful impact on healthcare delivery. Pharmacists therefore play a vital role in medication safety, education, and ensuring optimal therapeutic outcomes for patients. There are a number of ways that one can enter a career in pharmacies including via the apprenticeship route (which could be via a Level 2 Pharmacy Services Assistant or a Level 3 Pharmacy Technician) or through completing a Master's degree in Pharmacy accredited by the General Pharmaceutical Council. You are likely to need three A Levels or equivalent qualifications at level 3 to earn a place. You will probably also need to attend an interview to ensure that you have researched what the role of a pharmacist entails and can demonstrate the required qualities, which include excellent written and verbal communication, attention to detail, decision making and teamwork.

T Level Thursday

Fact: A T Level qualification is equivalent to three A Level passes.
